Blumenthal Foundation

The Blumenthal Foundation since its inception in 1953 has focused the majority of its grants on programs and projects that have an impact on Charlotte, and the state of North Carolina. The philanthropic efforts of the Foundation are focused in nine areas of grantmaking: Arts, Science, and Culture; Civic and Community; Education; Environment; Foundation Affiliates, Health; Jewish Institutions and Philanthropies; Religious and Interfaith, and Social Services.

The Louis Calder Foundation

Teacher and Leadership Development

The Foundation supports innovative professional development programs that identify and nurture the qualities of great teachers. All schools need exceptional individuals with the skill, the enthusiasm and the personal commitment to help children achieve academic success. We support professional development programs that stress the importance of curriculum and its relationship to standards and allow teachers to master relevant and specialized content, deliver it effectively, and develop management skills within the classroom and leadership positions within the school.
